ANOTHER SHOOTING SCRAPE

Which the Auditor of State Had with the Editor - The Theory of the Defense as Agreed Upon by the Lawyers-Their Fees and "Touches," Also the "Touches" of Alleged Friends and Their Backsliding.

Seventeenth Paper (The writer of the following was senten (The writer of the bollowing was street of the order of the order of the family was killed. Pardoned after eight years imprisonment, he proposes in the columns of the Globe to tell "a plain, unvar nished tale" of life in a modern penitentiary.

I was always profound in my resp.ct for the sacredness of human life, and as for my brother, he was noted for his unaggressive character and his less than masculine gentle-ness of disposition. He did not have a single enemyt in the city of Columbus; I monopolized them all. The city press made good use of this fact by confining all its denunciation to myself and accusing me of dragging him in the fight, "Forcing him by superior will power" was the expres-sion harped on. It might be indented here that this tune was changed only when the subsequent trial of my brother took place. Then he was everything that he ought not to be, and the same press that held me alone responsible pending my trial and during the taking of the testimony, now turned on my brother when his day of trial came and par aphrased their denunciatory adjectives substituting his name for mine.

An efforts to induce the court to admit either my brother or myself to bail in any sum having failed, we were removed from the station house on the third evening to the county jail and lodged on different floors of the edifice. We were kept not only in separate cells, but on different floors to prevent any communication between us. I secured Gen. T. E. Powell, defeated candidate for governor of Ohio, Hon. George L. Converse, who had served several terms in Congress, a noted criminal lawyer, styled the Nestor of the Co-tumbus bar; Col. Edward Taylor, a prominent attorney; Hon. Gilbert H. Barger, ex-Diector of Law, and Judge E. B. Earnhardt, as my counsel, and necessarily also to act in my brother's behalf, if the Stae elected to try us both at the same time. The State had, besides the regular prosecuting attorney and his two assistants, Col. J. T. Holmes, leader of the Columbus bar and socially high, and J. H. Booth, the most prominent criminal lawyer in the district. In addition the State ws ably aided and assisted in the manufacture of testimony by E. T. Methoff, millionaire; Hon. Emil Kisewetter, ex-Auditor of State, and all the preachers' and pastors' unions and A. P. A. lodges in Ohio. These latter took a hand in seeing that justice was done mainly in honor of my brother, whose first name was Patrick and whose rank as an officer in the Ancient Order of Hibernians the "Pope's toe" racket on. I could not be reached exactly on this line, prejudice which I earned on my own account. I had been a member of the local G. A. R. post and the most gen erous of its supporters, to the extent at least of $500 per annum in gifts, donations and advertising, for which the other newspapers invariably charged and collected. My paper in-serted free the notices and advertise. ments of all patriotic societies, such as the G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps, and in addition all church (without distinction as to denomina tion) notices of festivals, picnics etc., etc. Therefore I was impervious to the assaults direct of the A. P. A. and only received their fire through my brother.

When my counsel met and summoned my brother and myself to a conference at the county jail, stated the case, produced the article causing the tragedy and desired im-mediate trial on the facts. These facts I held to be:

1. That Osborne was looking for me in company with Levering and Wolfe and that my assassination was 2. That the article, confessedly by its authors a li,e, was intended as provocation to a fight.

S. That I accepted the challenge.

met and fought the challengers, and 4. That I was guilty of violating the law in so doing, the punishment which I was willing to accept without a murmur.

I pointed out the atrocious charac-r of the article and expressed a belief that no jury of Americans would convict me for having vindicated the character of wife and

The lawyers consulted, and having sounded me through Gen. Powell as to the fee each should receive, they decided to try the case on the absurd theory of self-defense. I objected, and asked how such a theory was tenable where we both fired simultaneously. It would be all right I admitted, in my brother's case, who was shot and wounded by Osborne before drawing his pistel, but I could not see how it applied in my case. I thought the simple, straightforward and honest plan was the best. They smiled and answered me that under the indictment for murder in the first degree, charging conspiracy to murder, that the death penalty would be the result of my 'proposed defense; but that on their theory of the case I would be acquit-ted on the plea of self-defense. Of course, I consented to be guided by my able counsel. What else can a

They then, after the manner of their class, "touched" me for the retaining fee. "Tom, or "General," Powell did the touching for the five, and secured $1,000 for himself and $500 each for the others. This was only the first "touch." I stood many more from the "General," although I am free to believe his fellow-attorneys did not benefit much by the free bleeding this former friend inflicted on me. There was money for trips to hunt witnesses, money for this, that and the other, as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as the nad and seized the weapon sufficiently, as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired, to cause the bullet to miss as he fired to cause the bullet to miss. bonds refused? "Tom, or "General," Powell did the touching for the five, and secured $1,000 for himself and $500 mach for the others. This was only the money for this, that and the other, until I had paid $7,500 before the day until I had paid $7,900 before the day set for the trial. William J. Burns,now in the U. S. secret service, was then practising the amateur detective busing the collar. however, Saffin was on my note in the house! In fact, he was never tried however, Saffin was on my note in the bank for $1,000. Of course, he knew that this sum represented his indebtedness, not mine, to the bank, inasmuch as it was payment to me for services rendered whereby his share was ten times that amount. Yet the note stood in my name with his as endorser, and poor shot served his time out in office and started a hank on his steal. and he was designted at the prospect of being able to take up the note, and exhibit it around town as proof that e suffered financial loss through his generosity in helping me. Now, every-body in Columbus knew that Safi: nowed me all that he was, and that without my backing and assistance he would e still shoving a jackplane instead of collecting rents on the $100,000 worth of property he had accumulated in six ears as Probate Judge. I knew his theme to find some legitimate excuse o go back on me, and that the $1,000 note would be just the thing to acquit him in the eyes of our mutual friends of ingratitude. Hence, I quietly took up the note the morning it matured vith my last $1,000, and when Saffin called at the bank during the noon-hour he said: "Well, I suppose I am stuck for that Elliott $1,000 note. This

Of course, the fellow went back on me, like hundreds of others who gave me up as lost. Men I had befriended with purse, voice and pen, others whom I had saved from shame and exposure, and others still who permitted a continuance of their friendship, like Burns et al., used it simply as a cloak o bleed me for all I was able to stand

I was speedily forced to mortgage my city residence and country place for $10,000, all of which went into the expenses of my trial, lawyer's fees, witesses' expenses, and a living for my family, who, during the three months ntervening from my arrest to the be ginning of my trial, and the three months more it lasted, drew no revenue from either my paper, which was seized the day I was put on trial, May 10th, or from any other source. The seizure of the paper was a rascally piece of business concocted by Moses F. Neill, Capt. C. T. Clarke and John H. Reese. This latter fellow got shot in the fleshy part of the leg by Osborne, and he sued me for $3,000 damages. If Reese had come forward nan-fashion, and asked me for assist ance he would have received the same. But he had heard, through Clarke, that I had an offer for the Sunday Capital of $8,000 or $10,000, and putting their heads together, with Moses F. Neill, they thought to shake me down for $0,000 of the amount. When the reader urderstands that those three curs were members of my G. A. R. post, that all three of them were under obligations to me in the matter of valuable service performed, their base conduct will be properly estimated. I declined made him a shining mark to work to be blackmailed. Then, by a law of not be reached exactly on this line, the paper and gave bond in $15,000. on Mars consist of ice or snow now but the reflex persecution of my My staff immediately left the office, seems to me a supposition so fantastic brother we added to the volume of and, under my instructions refused to the label. Ohio passed that winter, they seized help the scoundrels get out the paper. They were stuck, and the paper, occuoying premises owned by my wife, she otified them to remove the presses, type and machinery immediately, meanwhile charging $50 per day rent for the premises. But my trial for life and liberty commenced on the very day my paper was seized, and I had to intrust the legal proceedings in that ase to Judge Earnhardt, who sold out to Moses F. Neill and never collected the +.5,000 bond, which was easily col-ectable, inasmuch as the newspaper property was in my wife's name, and was illegally seized as mine. I have mentioned that a man named Emil Kisewitter was interested in the prosecution of my case. Kisewitter had been county and State auditor, edge of the canals discovered many and state the time of my case. and at the time of my trial was running a savings bank. It is a curious fact that he became State auditor through a joke perpetrated in the office of the Capital, by my city editor. It occurred in this way, I had gotten up a State ticket by interviewing the nembers of the legislature as to their hoice for governor, lieutenant govern-nor, etc. The only office on the ticket for which no choice was expressed was that of auditor. The ticket was eft blank, pending a concenseus of opinion by mail. I gave my city editor charge of the matter. When the paper was going to press he noticed that the blank was not filled, and he stuck in the name "Emil Kisewitter, of Frankthe ticket as the expression of the legislature, and no objection was raised to the Franklin County man. When the State convention met, I led the Franklin County contingent and seven at a distance as great as 35,000,000 even at a distance a prisoner do, locked up in jail and the bank, and Judge Charles G. Saffin, whose fortunes I had forwarded from the carpenter's bench to the Probate Judgship, "touched" me for that amount. It came about in this way, heard the safe that I had be safe that I ha office, and started a bank on his steal-ings. I had the State debt refunded, however, for 2.72, saving the tax-payers over $300,000, and that was all the satsfaction I really wanted.

Kisewetter, however, never could get over the fear that I might elect a prosecuting attorney who would indict, try him and secure his incarceration in the penitentiary. Hence, when I fellby my own rash act—he saw his oppor-tunity and made his bank the headquarters for the State's witnesses. In the bank they were coached, paid and drilled in their several stories. Among the rest was a gentle tale that I seized a young girl and, holding her between me and Osborne, fired over her shoulder in perfect safety, as Osborne was too chivalrous to fire at me for fear of hitting the lady! The fairy tale took immensely with my enemies, and they were never tired from repeating it, with such trimmings as their imagina-tions and vindictiveness suggested. The young lady had her picture taken in ex-Convict Jack Connolly's Sunday paper, and an incoherent story atach ed, composed of vile English and the nost puerile concoction of the alleged When this miserable slander was exploded in the subsequent trial, the town got too hot for the young street-walker and she was given em-ployment in the Chicago World's Fair, where her conduct—became so gross with an East Indian fakir doctor that the was expelled and thus earned the ingular distinction of being the only female employe discharged from the Chicago World's Fair for immoral conluct. The name of this unfortunate wretch, who lent herself to Kisewetter, Connolly and Bond's conspiracy, on the

to Lake Superior. It was the remark of the great Sir William Herschel that the resemblance Mars to this earth is one of the most triking features in the solar system the observations of the planet ave been made since the time of this comparable observer have tended to llustrate the truth which he then laid down. Mars is not so large as the earth, of course, but like our earth Mars is surrounded by an atmosphere At the poles of Mars are vast white tracts which become greatly extended during winter on the planet, but which shrink again during the ensuing sum-mer. To deny that these white tracts on Mars consist of ice or snow now cuss it. It has been proved by recent observations that the large dark ob jects on Mars, believed to be oper oceans, can no longer be so described By the excellent telescopes now avail able, these dark tracts have been shown to be traversed by marks of a nature so permanent as to be wholly incompatible with the supposition that we are looking at sheets of liquid. For the demonstration of this point we are indebted to the labors of many astron omers, but we must specially mention Mr. Percival Lowell, who has devoted consummate skill and assiduity to the study of this planet. With the help of a powerful telescope at his observ years ago by Schiaparelli. Mr. Lowell has given us some excellent reasons for his belief that these so-called canals do indeed mark the courses along which water is conducted from the melting snows at the poles of Mars to the more arid parts of the planet When, upon certain occasions, which do not recur very frequently, Mars of the planet from the globe is still about 35,000,000 miles. Now, what car a telescope show at the distance of 35, 000,000 miles? It requires a very good telescope to reduce the apparent distance of an object to a thouandth part. That is to say, it is a very good tele-scope which will show an object as wise unrepresented, and being an important Democratic stronghold, the press throughout the State reproduced the ticket as the expression of the least strong and the least strong and the least strong and the least strong are the scope which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispensed with the assistance of the least strong and the least strong are the scope which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousandth part of its distance, and if we dispense which will show an object as clearly as we could see it with the unaided eyes if it were at a thousand the part of its distance, and if we dispense we can be a supplied to the could be a sup cured the nomination of Kisewitter. miles. HIS BEAR EATS THE PIG

And Grizzly Stands Treat for the Whole Out fit-A Laughable Yarn by This Well-Known Old Soldier and Officer of the Famous "Fighting Fifth"-Lots of Fun with a Pet

Captain Edward L. Keyes, formerly of the Fifth cavalry, United States army, tells a story of that remarkable frontier character, Old Grizzly Adams scout, trapper, hunter and oddity in general. Captain Keyes said:

"The dwellers of a mining camp in the mountains, which by courtesy was called Miners' City, were one day greatly astonished at discovering a strange rider and a stranger steed com ing into their main street. The sur prise turned into terror in many cases and the timid went in and closed their doors, while the brave at once armed themselves to the teeth and stood ready for action. The cause of this unwont ed commotion among a people that were seemingly never surprised at anything, was at discovering an im mense grizzly bear coming down the mountain road, and heading for the center of the camp. There would have been a bear hunt at once had it not been for the fact that the grizzly was saddled and bridled, and more carried on his back a river. That rider was Old Grizzly Adams, The bear was his king of grizzlies, Sampson which he had as well trained as a

Wholly regardless, apparently, of his load, Sampson walked up the street at a swinging pace, straight toward the hotel, while his rider had more quer-ries put to him than could have been answered in a year's time. The style of those questions was not calculated to put Grizzly Adams in a good hu mor, as one would ask:
"Which are ther man and which

'Pard, what does yer ax fer yer

'Git down, old man, an' let ther b'ar "Grizzly Adams made no replies to this catechism, but held steadily on his way and halted before the door of the pine-board stanty that did service under the high-sounding title of the Valley View Hotel. There was this legend beneath the name: 'Entertain-ment for man and beast.' But the host did not come out to welcome either the man or the beast, and seemed unhappy that they had come. Dismounting from his grizzly, Adams fastened his chain-bridle to the hitching post, more as a matter of form, for the bear loor of the tavern.

"Pard, I wants a room fer two, 'ca'se my horse sleeps in the same stall as I does, an' I calkilates stayin' all night an' seein' the sights o' the city. Write us down in yer provender book as Old Grizzly Adams an' his o'ar, Sampson, from the Rocky moun-

He was just two good mouthfuls for Sampson, and old Grizzly got to the scene just in time to see piggy's tail disappearing within the capacious jaws of the bear. "'Were it a human or a animal critter?' he asked of the crowd that stood at a respectable distance. 'It were a precious pig,' volunteer-

"The bear instantly followed his master into the bar and the old hunter stood treat for all. Sampson took a mug in his paw, at his master's com mand, stood on his hind feet, and drank with a gusto, and then was led off to the log cabin adjoining, which the landlord had assigned to Old Grizzly as his quarters."

SEVEN DEVELOPED GOLD MINES.

60 ACRES OF GOLD ORE.

THE ARENA Gold Mining and Milling Company

CRIPPLE CREEK, COLORADO.

This Property is Estimated to be Now Worth More Than $10,000 Per Acre and Will be Worth Over One Hundred Thousand Dollars Per Acre, With Proper Development.

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000,

For the purpose of raising money to purchase the necessary machinery to make the mines produce daily fully THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD, thus enriching every individual shareholder according to the shares he holds.

YOU CAN BUY ANY NUMBER OF SHARES YOU WISH

and make more money than can be made in any other line of investment. The gold and make more money than can be made in any other line of investment. The gold ore is in these seven devoloped mines. There are 3,000 feet of ore in a vein, and these veins are true mother veins, held within walls of granite, placed there by nature. The Company has already developed this property to demonstrate that it is one of the largest gold properties of the Cripple Creek District, which is the greatest gold-producing camp on earth, its output last year aggregating $24,000,000, or nearly double the amount produced in the whole State of California.

At 50 cents per Share the Company is giving you a discount of 10 cents per Share to start with, making 20 cents on the dollar. As already stated, this is done for the purpose of raising $25,000 to purchase improved machinery, air-compressor drills and electric plant. We have two large hoisting engines on this property, a commodrous shaft-house, office buildings, boarding-house for the mea, stables, a powder-house, a large quantity of tools, etc. The reports on these mines, made by one of the best mining engineers in the State, succinctly describe these improvements.

NAMES OF MINES.

AZTEC, 210 feet in depth, with shaft-house, boiler and engine for hoisting, well tim bered all the way down. BONDHOLDER, 260 feet deep, hoisting engine and boiler, large iron shait-house MEXICO AND MANHATTAN, both over 100 feet deep, on same vein as the Aztec CRYSTAL, JASPER, AND GREAT EASTERN, on the same voin as the Bond-holder, and opened indepth to over 100 feet, and developments already made show over 4,000 feet of ore.

show over 4,000 feet of ore.

If you want to make money out of nature, become a producer of gold out of her treasure vaults. The Arens group of mines will do it for you.

We can furnish the best of reference—bank and mining engineers—and our title in the property is perfect, coming, as it does, through a patent from the Gevernment. With more improved machinery, from $3,000 to $5,000 per day will be a sonservative estimate of the output of these mines.

Remember that only 50,000 shares of this stock are for a ale at 50 cents on the dollar. Orders for the number of shares desired, accompanied by Draft, Money Orders, Express, or Cash in Registered Letters, can be sent to
